WARRNAMBOOL BOTANIC GARDENS

An evening with Jessica Hood and John Sheely

JESSICA HOOD - Community Advocate Environmental Heritage at the National Trust of Australia (Victoria) where she undertakes advocacy for significant trees, cultural landscapes and gardens as well as coordinating the Australian Heritage Festival in Victoria. She is also Vice-Chair of the Australian Garden History Society and dedicated to increasing new audience engagement with heritage gardens. Formally trained in Fine Art practice, with specialisations in photography, art history and theory & completed a PhD in 2013 with a focus on the Adelaide Botanic Gardens.

JOHN SHEELY started with us as the curator of the Warrnambool Botanic Gardens on the 2nd January 2006. In that time the Gardens have transformed from a fairly tired Guilfoyle designed garden into the gem you see today. John will talk about his time at the gardens, the teams achievements and his vision

With these two outstanding speakers we encourage you to invite friends and family for an evening of garden conversation.
